

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The invention relates to a method for the diffusion of lipophilic molecules in an aqueous medium, such as derivatives from the aryl-carboxylic group, for the treatment of buccopharyngeal disorders, and molecules with an anti-inflammatory, antimycotic, centrally-acting antalgic or antiallergic activity. The invention is characterised in that it consists in coating salts with said molecules. The invention also relates to compositions and tablets using said diffusion method.